Confidentiality Statement

The Council of Scientific Editors considers all submitted manuscripts as privileged information. All editors are bound by the TSRI Confidentiality and Invention Agreement signed upon employment. Editors must exclude themselves from the review of any manuscript that might involve a conflict of interest or the appearance thereof. To this end, Council editors will disclose to the Editor-in-Chief any conflicts of interest that make inappropriate their knowledge of the information included in the manuscript. The editing process rests on the assumption that the assigned editor and Editor-in-Chief will treat all manuscripts as privileged information; therefore, the editors will not use knowledge of the work to further their own interests.

On submission of a manuscript, authors may disqualify potential reviewers from the Council of Scientific Editors. Authors are encouraged to recommend to the Editor-in-Chief specific Council editors whose scientific background allows them to thoroughly review the manuscript.

The Council of Scientific Editors agrees to maintain all components of the above confidentiality statement.
